Conclusion:

- Salesforce provides the fastest path from Idea to App. You can concentrate on building your app using Salesforce tools, rather than building the infrastructure and tools yourself. This can save you years of time and millions of dollars.
- Salesforce is very flexible when it comes to customizing the User interface or creating custom objects or tabs for easier access. The custom objects provide the ability to create multiple discrete data which use the same schema of that particular object and it also enables the ability to add constraints on a particular field of that object.
- Salesforce is affordable, especially if you consider its vast variety of capabilities. Even startups and small business can use Salesforce
